Chinese Black Bean Sauce 2 servings

Epicurious · vegetarian, vegan, gluten-free

INGREDIENTS

- 240 ml Fermented black beans
- 80 ml Grapeseed oil — or any neutral oil
- 4 To 6 dried chinese chile peppers — torn into small pieces
- 0.25 white onion — minced
- 60 ml Shaoxing wine
- 60 ml Light soy sauce
- 50 g Sugar — or brown sugar
- 1 head Garlic (8 to 10 large cloves) — finely minced
- 1 2 -inch piece ginger — finely minced

METHOD

1. Rinse the fermented black beans with water, then strain and coarsely chop them. I like to leave some bigger pieces of beans to give the sauce more texture.
2. In a medium saucepan, heat the oil and chiles over medium heat until warm. Reduce the heat to medium-low and cook until the chiles turn dark but not black, stirring occasionally, 1 to 2 minutes. Scoop out the chiles and discard them.
3. Add the black beans and onion. Cook and stir until the sauce looks a bit dry (the beans will absorb oil at first but release it once they are cooked), 6 to 8 minutes.
4. Add the Shaoxing wine, soy sauce, and sugar. Let simmer, stirring constantly, until the onion turns tender, about 10 minutes. (The sauce can easily burn, so keep the heat low and stir the sauce constantly to ensure even cooking.)
5. Add the garlic and ginger and continue to cook and stir the sauce until the onion turns extremely tender and is melting into the sauce texture, 5 minutes or so. You should see oil floating on top. Transfer the sauce to a large bowl to cool completely.
6. Store the sauce in an airtight container in the refrigerator for up to 6 months.

- 2 g Kosher salt — plus more
- 1 large Ripe beefsteak tomato
- 0.25 bunch Cilantro
- 1 Lime
- Tortilla chips — for serving

METHOD

1. Remove husks and silk from 2 ears of corn. Cook corn and 1 poblano chile in a dry medium cast-iron skillet over high heat, turning occasionally, until corn is charred in spots and chile is blistered all over, 10–14 minutes.
2. Transfer corn and chile to a cutting board and let cool for a minute or two. Lay corn flat and slice along one side to shave off kernels. Repeat, rotating cob, until all kernels have been cut off. Discard cobs. Transfer corn to a medium bowl.
3. Crush corn with a potato masher or wooden spoon to help release starch and juices, which will help to thicken the salsa slightly.
4. Cut around poblano chile stem to remove, then slice into flesh lengthwise to open up chile like a book. Scrape out seeds and ribs, flip over, then use the dull edge of your knife to scrape off charred skin and discard.
5. Coarsely chop chile and add to bowl with corn.
6. Cut stem end off of 1 jalapeño, then halve lengthwise. Pull out ribs and seeds, then finely chop flesh. Add to bowl with corn.
7. Finely chop ½ red onion and add to bowl as well. Season with ½ tsp. salt and give it all a good mix with a large spoon.
8. Core 1 tomato, then cut in half through its equator. Squeeze tomato halves over a bowl or trash to push out seeds and watery parts and discard. Chop tomato flesh and gently fold into salsa.
9. Pick ¼ cup cilantro leaves from stems. Very finely chop leftover stems and fold into salsa along with leaves.
10. Cut 1 lime in half and squeeze with your hands into a small bowl. Measure out 2 Tbsp. and add to corn mixture. Taste and season with more salt. Mix one more time to combine.
11. Arrange tortilla chips on a platter. Serve corn salsa alongside.
12. Do Ahead: Corn salsa, without cilantro, can be made 1 day ahead. Cover and chill. Stir in herbs right before serving.

· 1 Fresh jalapeño — de-seeded
· 180 ml Fresh cilantro
· 60 ml Lime juice
· 3 clove Garlic
· 60 ml Olive oil
· 5 ml Salt

Korean Mama Kimchi 1 servings

Asian · Tasty

INGREDIENTS

- 2 head Napa cabbage — about 3 pounds each
- 240 ml Korean coarse sea salt
- 1.9 L Water — divided
- 40 g Glutinous rice flour
- 960 ml Korean red pepper flakes — gochugaru
- 150 g Salted shrimp — saeu-jeot
- 80 ml Garlic cloves — minced
- 15 ml Minced ginger
- 80 ml Fish sauce

- 6 Green onions — cut into 1-inch pieces
- 1 medium Korean radish — cut into matchsticks
- 1 medium White onion — cut into thick slices

METHOD

1. Using a chef's knife, hold the cabbage upside down and cut the thick white part of the cabbage in half lengthwise. Slowly pull the cabbage apart to separate into 2 pieces. Cut each piece in half to make quarters.
2. In a large bowl, dissolve ½ cup coarse sea salt in 6 cups of water. Thoroughly bathe the cabbage in the salt water, one quarter at a time, shake the excess water back into the bowl, and transfer the cabbage to a separate bowl.
3. Sprinkle the remaining ½ cup coarse sea salt over the thick white parts of each cabbage leaf. Set aside for about 4-6 hours, rotating the cabbage quarters from the bottom to the top every 2 hours.
4. When the white parts of the cabbage leaves are bendable, rinse thoroughly 3 times with clean water to remove the sea salt. Place the rinsed cabbage leaves in a colander and set aside to drain.
5. In a medium bowl, mix 2 cups water and the glutinous rice flour until it reaches the color and consistency of low-fat milk. Add to a medium saucepan and bring to boil over medium heat for 5-8 minutes, until the rice paste thickens to a gravy-like texture. Transfer to the mediu...

7. Working with one cabbage head at a time, use your hands to spread the gochugaru mixture over each cabbage leaf; you'll need about 1-2 tablespoons for large leaves.
8. Wrap the leaves around themselves to form a nice bundle, then transfer the kimchi into an airtight leather glass container. Pack tightly and put plastic wrap on top of the jar before closing the lid.
9. Store at room temperature for about 2 days, then place in the refrigerator to slow down the fermentation. TIP: If you notice the kimchi expanding or rising up from the fermentation, open the jar and press down to repack it tightly. This helps remove air between the cabbage and...

Pesto Chicken Garlic Knot Sliders 16 servings

Fusion · Tasty · gluten-free

INGREDIENTS

- 700 g Pizza dough
- 720 ml Rotisserie chicken — shredded
- 225 g Pesto
- 225 g Shredded mozzarella cheese
- 45 ml Salted butter
- 3 clove Garlic — minced
- 30 ml Fresh parsley

METHOD

1. Cut pizza dough into eighths. (Each ball of dough should yield 8 even-sized pieces of dough, for a total of 16).
2. Using your hands, roll each piece of dough into a thin strip about 7 inches (18cm) long. Then carefully tie them into a knot, tucking the loose ends of dough underneath.

3. Place each tied knot on a baking sheet or casserole dish with high sides, nestling them close together in a 4x4 in (10x10-cm) grid. Once all the knots are placed in the dish, cover and let rest for 10 minutes.
4. Preheat oven to 400■F (200■C).
5. Uncover and bake for 12 minutes or until the slider buns are golden brown and no doughy grey bits remain.
6. Once the knots are out of the oven, lower the oven temperature to 350■F (180■C).
7. Allow the knots to cool, carefully remove them from the baking dish and cut the grid horizontally,creating both a top and bottom piece.
8. NOTE: It's helpful to hold the knots together with a towel on top while cutting them horizontally, as the motion of the knife might cause some of them to pull apart.
9. Return the bottom half of the knot-grid to the original baking dish. Evenly layer the bread with cooked chicken, followed by the pesto and mozzarella cheese. Place the top half of the garlic knots on top.
10. Mix together melted butter, garlic, and parsley. Brush mixture liberally over the top of the knots.
11. Bake at 350■F (180■C) for an additional 10 minutes until the tops of the knots are golden brown and cheese is melted.
12. Pull apart for individual sliders.

METHOD

1. Inspect 8 half-pint jars for cracks and rings for rust, discarding any defective ones. Immerse in simmering water until jam is ready. Wash new, unused lids and rings in warm soapy water.
2. Combine mangos, pineapple, and cider vinegar in a stockpot over medium-high heat; simmer. Mash mangos and pineapple to a chunky consistency with a potato masher; stir in sugar until dissolved.
3. Stir liquid pectin and habanero chile halves into the stockpot. Bring to a rolling boil, stirring frequently. Cook, stirring frequently, until jam thickens, about 2 minutes. Remove chile halves. Discard 6 chile halves; chop 2 halves and stir back into the stockpot.
4. Pack jam into hot, sterilized jars, filling to within ¼ inch of the top. Run a clean knife or thin spatula around the insides of the jars to remove any air bubbles. Wipe the rims with a moist paper towel to remove any residue. Top with lids and screw rings on tightly.
5. Place a rack in the bottom of a large stockpot and fill halfway with water. Bring to a boil and lower jars 2 inches apart into the boiling water using a holder. Pour in more boiling water to cover jars by at least 1 inch. Bring to a rolling boil, cover, and process for 10 minu...
6. Remove the jars from the stockpot and let rest, several inches apart, for 12 to 24 hours. Press the center of each lid with a finger to ensure the lid does not move up or down. Remove the rings for storage and store in a cool, dark area.

Pomodoro Sauce 4 servings

INGREDIENTS

· 45 ml . diamond crystal or 1 0.75 tbsp. morton kosher salt — plus more
· 1 28 -oz. can whole peeled tomatoes
· 4 Garlic cloves
· 45 ml . extra-virgin olive oil — plus more
· pinch Of crushed red pepper flakes — plus more
· 3 Basil sprigs — plus leaves for serving
· 450 g . spaghetti or other dried pasta
· 125 g Parmesan — finely grated on the small holes of a box grater or in a food processor or blender, divided (about 1 cup)
· 30 ml . unsalted butter

METHOD

1. Fill a large stock pot two thirds full with water and place over high heat to bring to a boil. Once you start to see steam, add 3 Tbsp. Diamond Crystal or 1¾ Tbsp. Morton kosher salt. We know, we know: That looks like a LOT of salt. But salting the pasta water aggressively—it ...
2. Open a 28-oz. can of whole peeled tomatoes and drain contents in a colander set over a medium bowl. (Whole peeled tomatoes are the only canned tomatoes worth buying, tbh. The diced ones sometimes have weird chemicals added to them to keep the chunks from breaking down.) Using ...
3. Smash 4 garlic cloves with the flat side of a chef's knife forcefully, breaking garlic into smaller bits; remove skins. If the cloves are really big, you might need to give them an extra whack to make sure they're broken down. Don't bother chopping—the garlic will infuse into ...
4. Working next to your pasta pot, warm 3 Tbsp. extra-virgin olive oil in a large Dutch oven over medium heat. (We like using a Dutch oven or a large, high-sided skillet for cooking sauce and finishing pasta; it's kind of the only thing big enough to toss a whole pound of pasta i...
5. Stir in a pinch of red pepper flakes, then add drained tomato solids and increase heat to medium-high. The idea here is to concentrate the flavor of the solids before adding the tomatoe juices, which will give your sauce a more complex, rounded flavor. Cook, stirring occasiona...
6. Add reserved tomato liquid to pot and stir to combine. Season with a pinch of kosher salt, throw in 3 basil sprigs, and reduce heat so sauce is bubbling at a simmer. Cook, stirring occasionally, until liquid is reduced and sauce reaches the thickness of applesauce, 8–10 minute...
7. Add 1 lb. spaghetti or other dried pasta to pot of salted water and agitate with tongs to prevent sticking. Cook pasta, tossing occasionally, just until lower end of time range given on the package for al dente. If you're not sure if it's done, fish out a piece and take a nibb...
8. Using tongs, transfer pasta from stock pot to Dutch oven with sauce, allowing water to piggyback on pasta into sauce. (That's right, no draining!) Crank heat under sauce to medium-high and pour in ½ cup reserved pasta cooking liquid. If you've never finished cooking pasta in a...
9. Cook pasta, tossing constantly, until spaghetti sauce is clinging to each noodle and liquid is mostly absorbed, about 1 minute. You still want a saucy consistency, but not watery. If things start to look a little dry, add another splash of that pasta cooking water; if they loo...
10. Slowly sprinkle in about ½ cup Parmesan cheese (you want the grainy stuff with the texture of shaky cheese, not Microplaned; if you have a blender or food processor, you can use it to process a block of the good stuff), tossing constantly, until it has melted into the sauce. A...
11. Remove pot from heat and stir in 2 Tbsp. butter until melted. Finishing with a bit of butter is almost always a good idea—it makes the finished pasta dish extra glossy and delicious.
12. Using tongs, divide pasta among bowls, then top with remaining parm and fresh basil leaves. If you're feeling fiesty, top with red pepper flakes and an extra drizzle of olive oil. And there you have it: saucy, glossy spaghetti al pomodoro. Give yourself a pat on the back, and ...

Puff And Jam Flowers 9 servings

Epicurious · vegetarian, gluten-free

INGREDIENTS

- 1 Sheet frozen puff pastry — 7 or 8 oz.
- 1 large Egg
- pinch Of kosher salt
- 45 ml . thick strawberry jam
- 30 ml . turbinado sugar

METHOD

1. On a clean countertop, unroll and thaw the sheet of puff pastry at room temperature for 20 to 30 minutes until pliable.
2. Heat the oven to 191°C. Pan-spray or line a halfsheet pan with parchment paper or a silicone baking mat.
3. Score then cut the puff pastry into nine 3 × 3-inch squares.
4. Beat the egg with a pinch of salt and lightly brush the edges of each pastry square with egg wash. Top each square with 1 teaspoon of jam, leaving the egg-washed edges bare.
5. Lift the 4 corners of each pastry square to the center and pinch together to secure. Repeat once more with the newly formed corners to form a little package filled with jam. Flatten gently with your palm to form a puck.
6. Arrange the jam pucks on the prepared pan seam-side down. Freeze for 10 minutes.
7. Use a paring knife to make 8 evenly spaced cuts around each cookie. The cuts should nearly meet in the center but leave a small center margin intact, like the hub of a wheel.
8. Pick up and twist each petal once to the right so the exposed side is now facing up. If a lot of jam leaks onto the pan in this process, you may have cut too close to the center, but not to worry, simply replace the bottom parchment so it doesn't scorch in the oven.
9. Brush the flowers with egg wash and sprinkle turbinado sugar in each cookie's center.
10. Bake at 191°C until puffed and deep golden, 16 to 18 minutes.
11. Serve warm or cool completely on the pan. Transfer the cookies to a plate or an airtight container for storage. At room temperature, the cookies will keep fresh for 2 days; in the freezer, they will keep for 1 month.

METHOD

1. Set a wire rack over a rimmed baking sheet and grease with nonstick spray.

3. Make the adobo seasoning: In a small bowl, mix together the turmeric, oregano, onion powder, garlic powder, pepper, and salt.
4. Pat the chicken dry with paper towels. Turn the chicken breast-side down and liberally season the back cavity with half of the adobo seasoning, rubbing into the crevices.
5. Flip the bird over. Use a metal skewer to poke the chicken skin all over. Carefully use your fingers to separate the skin from the meat over the breasts and thighs. Rub the clarified butter under the chicken skin, using your fingertips over the skin to spread the butter evenly...

5. Remove the lime leaves and any chunks of tamarind pulp with a slotted spoon. Add the ground peanuts and bring to a boil over medium-high heat. Adjust the heat and simmer gently until thick and creamy like gravy, 8 to 10 minutes, stirring often so the sauce doesn't stick to the...
6. Remove from the heat and stir in the sambal oelek and Thai chilies (if using). Taste and adjust the seasonings as needed, making sure the acidity of the tamarind or lime sings through.
